
BAG OVA FAME SHONEY

BREAUX BRIDGE, LOUISIANA

JOHNELL DEROUSELLE SR.

Johnell Theo Drousselle Sr. also known as B.O.F (Bag ova Fame) Shoney. B.o.F was born on November 25, 1989, in Lafayette, La. He was raised in Breaux Bridge La., The crawfish capital. In 2017, Drousselle Sr. decided to take his craft as a musician to the next level. He was first introduced to the recording process in 2006 in his bedroom with a Dell computer, chat microphone and styrofoam cup. At that point he realized his love for writing and creating music. Most of his childhood life consisted of sports where he received attention from major colleges including ULM in 2008 where he received a partial scholarship.

Due to hardships and the passing of his father, Drousselle Sr. was not able to with stand school and personal matters. Which ultimately led him to return to his hometown of Breaux Bridge. In 2009 Drousselle Sr. began working multiple minimum wage jobs to stay afloat while secretly working on his craft as a musician. In 2017, Drousselle Sr. finally decided to fund his own studio session where he receive positive feed back, which led him dedicated more of his time into music. In 2018, he recorded and released his first official single, "If I Die Today".

205K

Streams

1,500

Followers

2,000

Listeners

Breaux Ridge, Louisiana · 505-495-0450
www.legacymusicmanagement.com